Connect

Alicia Turner is an operations and leadership practitioner and consultant for non-profit, commercial, and government organizations. She primarily focuses her engagements on developing leadership and team capacity through consulting projects that drive organizational strategy and process improvement.

Alicia has over 20+ years of leadership and operations management experience, including a billion-dollar health care corporation as a Human Resources and Organizational Development executive and Chief Operations Officer. Her broad industry and community work experience enables her to effectively relate to front-line staff, supervisors, middle management, senior leadership, and executives. Alicia's business philosophy is rooted in sharing her hard-earned experience and lessons learned, making complex issues, processes, and problems simple while empowering leaders to create high-performance teams.

North Compass Solutions, LLC

We work with leaders and teams in organizations that are struggling to execute. Our experience is that there are common process and people challenges that are the root cause. We take real-world insight and deliver it in practical ways that leaders and teams can implement to align their people and processes, ultimately improving performance and execution.
